PROFILE

When it comes to my personality, I seem cynical to most people because I let numbers and data dictate my actions and not emotions, and when people figure out what that looks like they ask me all sorts of questions, makes the conversations with me very interesting, since find my answers abnormal, weird and funny at the same time

PROJECTS

Love Running 🔗
This project was designed by the teachers who help every step of the way while I wrote code.

Anime List 🔗
This project was designed and coded by me alone, the teachers only helped with debugging, when I was not able to fix the bugs myself. This was also the very first website I created.

Love Maths 🔗
This project was designed by the teachers who help every step of the way while I wrote code.

Calculator 🔗
This project was designed and coded by me alone, the teachers only helped with debugging, when I was not able to fix the bugs myself. I personally think this project is a bad example as I had a tight deadline and had to scale it down a lot.
